

Unused Electric Appliances are Wanted Here

Have you any electrical household appliances you're not using, such as irons, toasters, air heaters, waffle irons, grills, etc? Even if they need repairs, you can sell them to your electrical appliance dealer, and thus help relieve a critical shortage of this type of equipment, according to B. J. Scott of the Torrance Electric Shop, 1421 Marcelina ave.

"Many new residents in this area are desperately in need of all types of electrical appliances. As the manufacture of new equipment has been halted for the duration of the war, the only hope such people have of obtaining these appliances is thru the purchase of used equipment," Scott says.

"In an attempt to relieve the shortage, we have agreed to purchase all the used appliances available and resell them. Necessary repairs will be made; but if the equipment is beyond repair, it is still needed in the war effort, as it contains much critical copper, brass, aluminum, steel and valuable alloys.

"Many local residents have a surplus of old appliances stored away in their cupboards and attics. They need have no reluctance in disposing of it, as necessary repairs to their present appliances will be available when needed. A reasonable price will be paid for all appliances, commensurate with its condition and value," Scott stated.

SAYS 'HELLO'—Private Dale Simmons, now in Alaska, writes his greetings to friends here.

Soldier Leads Rugged Life In Alaska Position

The life of a soldier in a field position in Alaska is not too bad, according to Private Dale Simmons, who was manager of the Ideal Market's deli-nesson department prior to his induction June 25, 1941.

"There isn't much I can tell you about myself because of censorship," he wrote Torrance friends this week. "I was at Camp Callan for four months after being inducted and the rest of the time I have been in Alaska. I have been in a field position for more than a year now with none too many modern conveniences but things are getting better all along.

"We replaced candlelight with electricity and even sleep on spring beds now. We used to have wooden bunks we built ourselves. Now we are getting nice new Quonset huts with moderate temperature at all times. This will do away with the wooden shacks we used to live in. Our water supply is quite a problem but it could be lots worse.

"Yes, we have had some pretty rugged times but you don't hear these fellows kicking. They are 100 per cent soldiers. . . I should be getting a furlough some day soon but there are quite a few ahead of me yet and it takes quite some time. I received lots of nice greeting cards from people in Torrance and I also receive The Torrance Herald up here and find it very interesting.

"We know we haven't a bad place up here as some of the other fellows have in the fighting zones. We only wish we could be in there doing our part and lend them a hand. I would like to say 'hello' to everyone in Torrance who remembers me and I hope I may have the opportunity to see them soon," Private Simmons concludes.

County Chamber Head

FRANK P. DOHERTY, Los Angeles attorney, was elected president of the Los Angeles County Chamber of Commerce last week.

Doherty immediately sounded a call for a home front directed to total war.

"In the future, as in the past, the Chamber of Commerce must strive to serve our entire community and to act solely in the interests of our country," he said. "Every effort must be directed toward winning the war, decisively, and to win it at the earliest possible date. Our contribution can be best directed toward the production of food, weapons and munitions of war.

"We are only knee-deep in the war. Greater trials lie ahead. We must be prepared to meet and master these hardships. Free enterprise has tenacity. It offers freedom of speech, of the press and of the economic life, as the reward for the nation that is devoted to it. No military or other bureaucratic system can match us in production."
